General

The Rhode Island Medical Journal is a peer-reviewed publication. We welcome articles from the Rhode Island and regional healthcare community, our target audience. Articles submitted for publication must not have been published elsewhere or be under consideration for publication. The editors reserve the right to edit any material submitted.

Copyright Information

Accepted manuscripts become the permanent property of the Rhode Island Medical Journal and may not be published elsewhere without permission from the Journal.

All authors must complete a copyright transfer form, which can be filled out either electronically or printed and scanned, and is available here.

Manuscripts

- Format in a standard 12 pt. typeface
- Double space
- 2000–2500 words
- Do not use underlines, rules, page footnotes, or guidelines within the manuscript

Commentary

The writer(s) shares a perspective on any issue facing clinicians (eg, ethics, health care policy, patient issues, or personal perspectives). Approximate length: 1200 words. Full guidelines are available here.

Letters to the Editor

The writer(s) respond to a manuscript or contribution which appeared in the previous issue of RIMJ. Approximate length: 500 words. Full guidelines are available here.

Authors

Credit for authorship should include individuals who have made substantial contributions to the manuscript according to 2018 revised guidelines established by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (ICMJE), based on the following four criteria:

- Substantial contributions to the conception or design of the work; or the acquisition, analysis, or interpretation of data for the work; AND
- Drafting the work or revising it critically for important intellectual content; AND
- Final approval of the version to be published; AND
- Agreement to be accountable for all aspects of the work in ensuring that questions related to the accuracy or integrity of any part of the work are appropriately investigated and resolved.

The RIMJ standard is to list the first eight authors, followed by et al. The specific contributions of additional collaborators can be noted in an acknowledgment.

Abstracts

An abstract of 150 words or less should accompany each scientific manuscript. The abstract summarizes the main points of an article: (1) the study objective or background, (2) the study design and methods, (3) primary results, and (4) principal conclusions.

Keywords

Provide three to five keywords to describe the essential subject(s) of your article.

Footnotes

Footnotes should be avoided within the text. Such explanatory material can usually be incorporated into the text parenthetically. RIMJ does not use footnotes.

Citations & References

Limit to 20. References should be cited in numerical order in the text and arranged at the end of the article in the order they are cited. All references should be cited as superscripts within the manuscript. Place superscript numbers outside periods and commas and inside colons and semi-colons.

Example: Currently, more than 1.1 million people are living with HIV/AIDS in the United States alone, of which a CDC-databased modeling estimated 3,730 to 4,061 live in Rhode Island.¹

A complete print journal reference includes the following:

- Last name of author, first initial followed by comma and then additional authors
- Title of article (or book and chapter title)
- Abbreviated name of journal (Abbreviate and italicize names of journals according to the listing in the PubMed Journals database.)
- Year of publication; followed by Volume number and Issue number:
- Page numbers

Example: Gould P, Krahn A. Complications associated with implantable cardioverter defibrillator replacement in response to device advisories. JAMA. 2006;295(16):1907–1911.

Accompanying material

Tables should be provided as Microsoft Word documents; jpegs, pdfs, or image files should not be submitted for Tables.

Figures

A. Photos and images: High-resolution photos or images should be provided separately in their original file format, and not embedded within the manuscript. High-resolution images (300 ppi) are required.

B. Graphs or charts: Provide as separate Microsoft Word files. Consider that figures may be published at 3 or 4 inches in width. Fonts and details must be legible when reduced to that size. Recommended for clarity are sans serif fonts, such as Calibri or Arial.

C. Legends: Figure legends should be provided individually as Microsoft Word documents.
